Recorded Interviews

A Review of Proper Protocol to take Recorded Interviews and their use in the claims adjustment process

Liam McCarthy of Scannell & Crowley, LLP, will discuss recorded statements and their use in the claims process, Examinations Under Oath, and lawsuits. The discussion will focus on why we take recorded statements, who uses them, and what they are used for. We will look at examples of recorded statements to determine their strengths and weaknesses and discuss specific scenarios where recorded statements are particularly useful.
